

Restoration Through Reconciliation

Vision: To see men made whole, standing tall, head held high, looking you straight in the eye, not arrogant or militant, but confident, firm, kind, gentle, and full of integrity in every dimension of life.

Mission: To restore men to wholeness through relationship and the mentoring of other men addressing the father vacuum that has wounded all men and thereby establishing a safe place for men to build trust.

In the insurance industry, to be made whole simply means to have material restored after a loss. Building Brothers foundational ministries goes far beyond this, enabling men to re-enter the family, employment, and the community as new men ready to engage the challenges with character and discipline shoulder-to-shoulder with other men and their Spiritual Fathers.

The Impact of Reconciliation

- † Affects attitude
- † Changes one's environment (family, work, recreation)
- † Brings the crossing of barriers
- † Leads to relationship
- † Relationship allows reconciliation

One Year Plan

- † Phase I -- Training -- Building a safe place for men
- † Phase II -- Filling the Father vacuum
- † Phase III -- Safety: The masculine context
- † Phase IV -- Reconciliation
- † Phase V -- Brothers: Men's small groups

Building Brothers was created by Dan Schaffer of Littleton, CO.
Facilitated by Hank Richard, Kingdom Builders Men's Ministries, Akron, OH

This process has many different applications. Whoever goes along with training will find a way to deal with every man's anchor. The lost can learn about their God-given value, deal with the absence of the blessing of the father to the son, develop friend who learn alongside, learn what true trust is and how to use it to be reconciled with God and each other. this experience is powerful for any man, the trainers, the facilitators, the mentors, etc. I believe that it is good all the way around.
